

DEQ picks Clermont for wastewater extension

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Despite objections, the county Board of Supervisors approved design work for sewer line extensions into Clermont Harbor.

Engineer Carlos Cordon reported the state selection of Clermont Harbor as Phase I in the county's overall centralized sewer plans.

The selection was made by Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

"When we met with the DEQ," District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson stated, "they did not specify what area should be first."

"I know of other areas (within the county) which are more polluting to the waterways than Clermont Harbor."

Board attorney Gerald Gex reported the design work for lines in Clermont Harbor will keep the county in compliance with state requirements.

Since the passage of Senate Bill 2562, nearly the entire southern half of the county, not on a central sewer system, is in violation of the law.

The law makes it illegal for any wastewater discharge to take place off an individual's property.

Specific measurements are given for placement of sewerage disposal systems which makes it practically impossible for any land owner with less than 2 acres to adhere to the designations.

The tank or primary treatment system must be 100 feet from any waterway; 50 feet from any private water supply; 5 to 10 feet from disposal field; and 10 feet within property lines. The disposal field or secondary treatment system, must be 100 feet from any private water supply, and the entire system must be free from interference by frequent flooding.

The Shoreline Park subdivision has been singled as the greatest area of violations for the majority of lots were sold as 50 by 100 foot plots.

Cordon said, factors which may have influenced the DEQ selection were the closeness of population in the Clermont Harbor area and the proposed construction of a wastewater treatment plant to Bayou Caddy for the future.

He added, Lakeshore was selected by DEQ as the next area of development.

Cordon's price for the study was $12,500.

The board said the DEQ required study would have no effect upon the $400,000 Community Development Block Grant, intended for the extension of the Hancock County Wastewater District I sewer lines in Shoreline Park.

Should the county receive the grant, the Shoreline Park would continue aside from the DEQ directives.

EPA halts Bayou Caddy casino parking progress

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bayou Caddy Casino Corporation has stopped work on a portion of a proposed parking area until a disagreement over a wetlands violation is settled.

According to Bayou Caddy Casino president George Baxter, the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) claims about two acres of wetlands were filled prior to receipt of a permit.

"All we did was clear some land," Baxter added. "No wetlands have been filled in."

He commented that negotiations are presently being conducted between Bayou Caddy and the EPA in which he expects a compromise will be reached.

EPA enforcement coordinator Ann Inderbitzin reported, the issuance of a work stop order, several weeks ago, by the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers was for clearing of the wetlands area prior to receipt of a permit.

She said, "It was a flagrant violation of the wetlands law."

Baxter said, there has been no further work completed on the land in question.

Inderbitzin stated, the EPA sent a letter notifying Bayou Caddy Casino of a compromise situation which involved mitigation of wetlands.

She refused to elaborate on the details until after the casino corporation received the compromise offer, mailed the middle of the week.

Baxter stressed, "This does not hold up the overall project. We are continuing with Phase I, which includes the construction of the docking area and gaming vessel, as well as work on the remaining five acres of parking area."

Bayou Caddy Casino applied for a wetlands permit with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in December.

Son pleads guilty to father's murder

Daniel Joseph Jochum, 19, of Jourdan River Ranchettes subdivision, pleaded guilty Thursday to the August murder of his father.

The state reduced the charge of murder to manslaughter and the sentencing was deferred pending a pre-sentence report.

Jochum told Circuit Court

Judge James Thomas that he "got scared" and killed his father, Michael W. Jochum, 41, with a double barrel shotgun after being threatened by him.

Prior to shooting his father in the head, Jochum reported that his father had been drinking heavily, cursed him, pulled a knife on him, hit him and said he would kill him.

He was arrested five days later when Sheriff's Department investigators discovered the body in the back yard of his home.

County hires mosquito professionals

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Mosquito Control Inc. of Harvey, La. was awarded a three-year contract to service Hancock County in the battle of mosquito control.

The $105,000 per year contract will include chemical control through land and aerial spraying of 140,000 acres or approximately 3,850 miles; larvae monitoring; and biological control through the introduction of a predatory minnow, native to South Mississippi.

Following acceptance of the Mosquito Control Inc. low bid, alternate bidder, Andy Ewing, questioned the clarity of the bid specifications.

In the specifications, an estimated $34,000 in chemicals donated by NASA, were offered for use by the bidder.

Ewing said, he was aware the chemicals existed, but not of the county's offer.

He told board members, if he had reduced the value of the chemicals from his bid price he would have been the lowest bidder.

Friday, board attorney Gerald Gex reported, Mosquito Control Inc.'s bid met all requirements of the bid package and would stand as accepted bid.

Wayne Machado, general manager for Mosquito Control Inc., said, four to 10 positions will be filled from the Hancock County area for operation of the local service.

Mosquito Control Inc. was recently awarded a contract to service Jackson County, the second member of the now defunct tri-county Mosquito Control Commission.

Machado said spraying will begin Friday evening and by Monday a building should be established and a search for employees will begin.

SAND BEACH

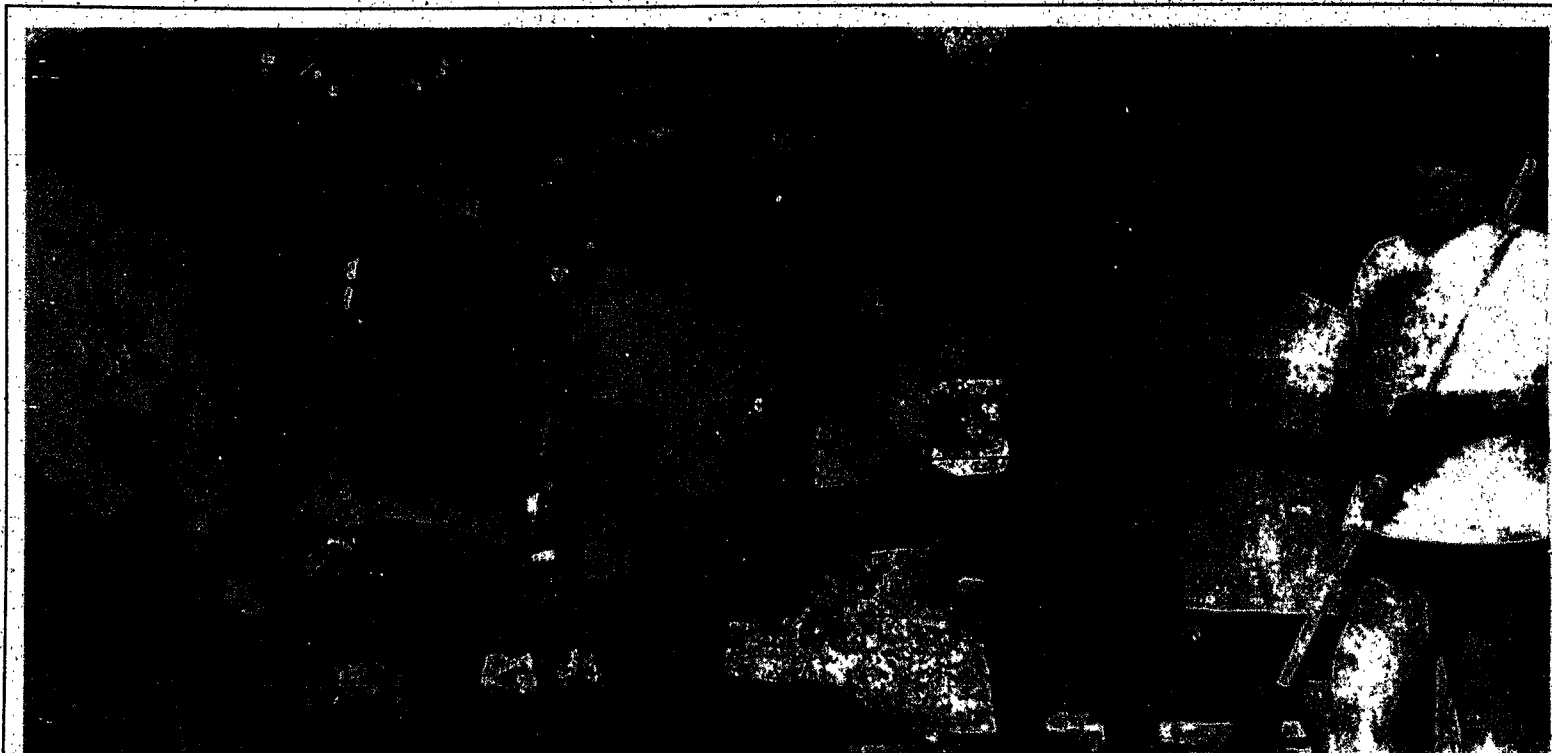

The county approved an expenditure of up to $3,500 for professional services from New Orleans attorney Tom Sands, a retired U.S. Army Corps of Engineers employee.

Sands will assist in negotiations with the Corps of Engineers for a permit to dredge sand from along Bay St. Louis shores for use in the refurbishing of county

OLA builds Interpretive Center

Our Lady Academy Junior Engineering Technology Society (JETS) is building an Interpretive Center, a series of structures connected by a self-guided trail with interpretive stations that aid in promoting the natural environment, on the school grounds. On Saturday, JETS and Campus Ministry students, along with parents and faculty, started building an outdoor chapel/amphitheater, the first station of phase one. The three-year project consists of three phases and over 20 stations, each station costing $100. Businesses donating to the project will receive a station in their name. Learn about Chronic Fatigue Syndrome Fatigue is one of the most common reasons that people visit a health professional. Many medical conditions can cause fatigue. But Chronic Fatigue Syndrome (CFS) is a debilitating disease that causes unremitting fatigue. CFS is capable of reducing an individual's activity level by at least fifty percent and commonly lasts six months or more. At NorthShore Regional Medical Center we take this disease seriously.

If you have some of the following symptoms, you could suffer from CFS and should attend our seminar.

- ☒ persistent fatigue that is not resolved by bed rest
- ☒ a low grade fever
- ☒ sore throat

- ☒ muscle weakness or pain
- ☒ prolonged fatigue after exercise
- ☒ headaches
- ☒ joint pain with swelling or redness
- ☒ sleep disturbances
- ☒ difficulty in thinking or concentrating

NorthShore Regional Medical Center will hold a seminar on Chronic Fatigue Syndrome on Thursday, April 29 at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Christy Graves, an internal medicine specialist, and Dr. William Williams, a specialist in infectious diseases, will conduct the program. beaches.

Sand Beach project engineer Bill Mitchell reported, though the county plan details plans to gradually decline the area of sand removal, as well as installation of a series of warning signs, the Corps did not approve the safety plan.

He added, the Corps fears the possibility of other drownings, as those which occurred following a 1965 federal dredging project fronting Gulfside Assembly Methodist Church in Waveland.

Sands' rate of consultation fee is $175 per hour.

Should the board obtain permitting in the Bay St. Louis area the overall cost of the project is expected to cost half that of the original estimate.

JUVENILE DETENTION

Board approval was given for the hiring of architect Fred Wagner for adaptation of a section of the Hancock County Justice Facility for juvenile use.

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson requested the hiring, reporting the need for the sight and sound separation of juveniles from adults in order for the county to comply with a state mandate.

JAIL ADDITION

Approval was also given for final payments to the architect and construction company for addition work to the county justice facility.

Payments of $442 to Wagner; total project cost, $18,168; and $22,710 to J.W. Puckett Construction of Gulfport; total project cost, $227,100.

Peterson stated, the completed cost of the jail addition was $200 less than originally contracted.

He added, 26 more Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) prisoners would be arriving that day to occupy the addition, bringing the total number of INS inmates to 34.

Of the 26 arriving, 18 are Cubans and eight, Chinese.

The county receives $46 per day from the federal government for each INS inmate housed.

HIRINGS

Peterson received board approval for the hiring of six part-time employees for the jail addition.

He also received approval on two resignations from the Sheriff's Department, stating, "They are going to work at the airport."

Board approval was given to County Tax Assessor Eddie Murtagh for the hiring of one employee, for the replacement of another who recently resigned.

"This is the fifth one I've lost to the casino since the beginning of this year," he commented. "Can't blame them."

BUS SERVICE

Lora Mederos reported the elimination of bus services one day per week to Bay St. Louis senior citizens, for re-routing to Diamondhead would take place since receiving a request for the service.

She added, Bay St. Louis residents currently receive service five days per week, so one day less would not present a disruption in overall services.

HIGHWAY 603

Hancock Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee anti-litter chairman Carol Vegas requested board support in keeping Highway 603 litter free.

She said, the sheriff was going to send a work crew of prisoners to clear the highway of litter.

She requested upon completion of the Highway 603 widening, signs warning against littering be placed to deter future violations. The board said they would consider doing so at that time.

Meanwhile, the board ordered a letter be sent to State Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows requesting highway work crews not litter.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business the board approved:

—the purchase of two bullet-proof vests by the Sheriff's Department, half of the cost received as a donation by Hancock Women's Club;

—the installation of a street light at the corner of Longfellow Drive and Highway 603;

—Port and Harbor resolutions for docket payments and a one-month extension of the Stennis Airport fixed base operator's lease agreement;

—the low bid purchase of an ice machine for use at the south barn for work crews;

—advertise for repairs to courthouse roof, as needed;

—and re-advertisement for construction of outer shell of new Leetown Volunteer Fire Department building.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Our Hancock County Libraries join in this week in the celebration of National Library Week.

The theme of this year's celebration is, "Libraries change lives."

Books are for reading at our public libraries, and a world of information can be gained.

Our three local libraries have over 50,000 thousand books, magazine, videos, and books on tapes on about any subject you can name. And if there are those they do not have, they can get within a few days.

Libraries can even help you in finding information on a career, how to build a house, repair an auto, make a kite, who discovered this or that, and the list goes on and on.

There are the books too, just for reading pleasure.

There are other services available at our local libraries too; such as adult reading classes, math classes, writing classes, jobs skills classes, G.E.D. classes and the list continues.

The City-County Library, 467-5282, is located on the Service Road, Bay St. Louis; Waveland Library, 467-9204, 333 Coleman Avenue, Waveland; and Kiln Library, 255-1724, 16603 Highway 603 N. of caution light, Kiln.

When was the last time you visited a library and checked a book out?

Shouldn't you visit your library more often!

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's April After Hours will be held Tues., Apr. 20, at the Sunburst Bank, 827 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis.

The hours will be from 5 to 7 p.m. and the After Hours are sponsored by Sunburst Bank.

Admission will be three business cards.

Take the high road

OK, everybody, hit the showers.

Now that the race for the 2nd Congressional District is finally over, maybe we'll have a chance to wash off some of the mud that flew back and forth during the campaign.

The mud flew beyond district lines, too. It seems that with many campaigns for public office, the issues are increasingly buried under a pile of muck and mire known as "attack ads." Sure, it's important to know about a candidate's character and, to some extent, his or her past conduct, but there is a certain point at which it ceases to be of importance in judging competence to hold office.

Unfortunately, the sleaze factor has become a normal part of our society. We publicize the worst in our celebrities, our sports heroes, and our government officials.

Whatever happened to the positive outlook on things? It can still be done, even in a political campaign. It's called taking the high road; but, more and more these days, candidates seem to prefer the view from the valleys.

There are a great many serious issues facing the 2nd district — issues which demand the time, the energy, and the attention of the elected congressman. Unfortunately, we didn't hear enough in this campaign about health care, agriculture, employment, or economic development.

Bennie Thompson has been chosen as the new representative of the 2nd Congressional District. He received more votes than his opponent, Hayes Dent. But he must not forget that he is not going to Washington to represent the 71,000 people who voted for him; he is going to represent the more than 500,000 people in the district.

Oh, for those of you in central Mississippi — hold off on that shower. The Jackson mayor's race, with the TV ads chunking the mud, is still in progress. Just a few more candidates in the valley.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

State's portion of education costs rises significantly

The 1993 Legislature didn't accomplish a great deal, but it created one monumental benefit for school teachers which ranks virtually on the level of establishing the minimum salary schedule for teachers 40 years ago.

Lawmakers, after choking for several years on the idea of providing a state-funded health insurance program for teachers (and other certified education personnel such as principals and assistant principals), voted to establish a fully paid teacher health plan, phased in over two years.

What makes this a landmark step for the Legislature is that teachers will become the only public servants in Mississippi not employed by the state to be provided state-paid health insurance.

Some who have maintained that every sort of state employee down to highway department workers are covered for health care fail to remember that teachers are employees of local school districts, not the state.

The impact of the state providing health insurance for certified education personnel of local school districts, which when fully implemented in July, 1994 will cost $45 to $50 million a year, is to shift from the county and city level to the state level a significant greater share of the total education burden.

This is a trend in Mississippi that has been going on for the past 35 years or more: making the state rather than local governments pick up the tab for more and more of the cost for public education. Prior to 1960, the state share and the local share of the public education costs were almost equal.

In years since then, some federal funds have become a significant fact in the mix of public school spending (dropping, incidentally, during the Reagan years). Meantime, the local contribution to education cost has declined and the state contribution has grown larger.

Now the ratio is about 55 percent state funds to 30 percent local, with the rest coming from federal funding. The addition of state-funded health insurance will boost the state share to an estimated 60 percent.

Already, Mississippi was well up among the nation's top 10 states in the percentage of education cost picked up by the state. Health care insurance will likely move Mississippi higher.

The teacher benefit bill finally hammered out by the 1993 Legislature and signed reluctantly by Gov. Kirk Fordice provides three significant things: 1. A basic $550 across-the-board pay hike for all teachers; 2. An additional one-year experience increment for bachelor degree teachers and also for higher degree teachers; 3. An $80 per month contribution toward health insurance premiums starting in July 1993, going up to full payment of health insurance by the state in July 1994.

Health insurance for teachers now costs $144 per month, based on Blue Cross-Blue Shield figures. Initially, about 65 to 70 percent of teachers are expected to participate in the insurance program, with practically all coming into the plan when it is fully state funded.

The plan will be a self-funding health insurance program administered by the State Department of Finance and Administration (in contrast with the State Health Plan for state employees which is administered by Blue Cross-Blue Shield). By the state administering the insurance plan for teachers, 4 to 5 percent in administration costs is expected to be saved.

But, of course, it remains to be seen if the state running the program can be as efficient as a private company such as Blue Cross.

While teachers' unions publicly voiced disappointment over not getting a larger pay raise, privately they are known to be tickled to death over getting the tremendous health insurance package. However, you can look for the teachers' groups to make a full court press for a basic pay hike next year.

Providing fully paid health insurance is expected to become a formidable tool in keeping the most experienced teachers in the school system, and recruiting new teachers to relieve the teacher shortage, which has become particularly critical in the Delta.

And State Department of Education officials say that a number of teachers who have gone into private schools in recent years now want to get back into the public system.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

School board should accept 'gift' with gratitude

To the Editor:

Being concerned parents in the Bay-Waveland area, we know why there is so much controversy over a "gift" from the city to the schools.

Why not accept the "gift"? We realize why the "gift" was given at this time and why the school board does not want to accept the "gift" as given.

Why not give it to the teachers as "gift" or "bonus"?

Teachers are intelligent people. They understand what is going on. This will give the teachers and the PTO some relief for the following school year, at least, and then we can only hope that this "gift" will be given again for the '94-'95 school year.

Didn't your mothers teach you to accept a "gift" as given? Just smile and say "thank you," even if you don't particularly like the "gift." It's only good manners.

Our teachers need permanent raise

To the Editor,

Being a concerned citizen in the Bay-Waveland School District I have found the following information very disturbing. This is a basic pay scale for a certified teacher with a bachelor degree and ten years experience:

Biloxi	$23,825
Long Beach	23,535
Pass Christian	23,317
Gulfport	23,251
Bay-Waveland	22,625

Our teachers are making anywhere from $52 up to $100 less per month. How do we hope to keep dedicated, qualified teachers in this area when right across the Bay they can receive better pay?

My hope is that we permanently correct this very soon and keep our teachers here.

Sincerely,
Dolores Dauth
Bay St. Louis

County residents need recycling available

To the Editor:

Sure, the recycling program in Bay St. Louis is great, but what about those not in the city?

I'm only 17, but recycling is important to me. I want to do more to make the world better for my kids, but I can't. Why? Because I live outside city limits.

Because some people were too lazy to put their garbage in the proper place. Because those people dumped it at our only non-aluminum recycling center and caused it to be removed.

Please, give other residents of Hancock County a chance to clean up the planet. There should be no question of 'should you?' At the rate our landfills are filling, you have to.

Sincerely,
Jenise Baker
Hancock County

Support our servicemen—write a letter

Dear Editor:

Once again, outstanding support from every part of the country made the recently-completed Christmas and Valentine mail programs tremendously successful. This past Christmas, bundles of friendly cards and letters were sent to more than 1,000 units, bases, and support locations (such as other USOs, Armed Services YMCAs and hospitals) all across the U.S., including several in Mississippi and around the world.

Interested readers may learn how to help boost the morale of our service men and women at more than 1,000 places all across the U.S. and around the world by sending a first-class postage stamp (return envelopes cannot be used—just the stamp to cover postage) to: USO Mail Call, P. O. Box 608, Fort Knox, KY 40121-0608. A copy of the next information folder will be sent when published later in the year. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Pete Morehead
National Director

Now is the time to live the legend. The second annual Bay High/St. Stanislaus Alumni Football benefit game is in need of players.

The Saturday, May 29 game will be played at J.D. McCullough Stadium.

Sean Logan, spokesman, said proceeds from the event fund the schools' athletic booster clubs and a selected local charity.

The game last year played at Rock-A-Chaw stadium, netted some $2,000.

The game will be a full contact football contest with 11 players from each school on the field.

Bay High was last year's victor by a 10-7 score with some 2,500 spectators in the stands.

Alumni interested in playing in the game are to call, Logan, 452-4813; Joe Gex, 467-9507; Jerry Spell, 467-9507; Mike Proulx, 467-7516 or 452-4316; Cherrie Monti, 467-9779; or Roger James, 467-6611.

Former cheerleaders from Bay High and St. Stanislaus are also invited to participate. Cheerleaders can call Connally Scardino, 452-9098, Shelly Comeaux, 466-4369, Roger James, 467-6611.

Former band members should contact Steve Treutel, 452-3777.

Kickoff time will be 7:30 p.m. "This year we would like to have a roster of players before the game and urge all interested parties to contact one of the above prior to May 7," Logan said.

Former basketball players needed for alumni game

Bay High and St. Stanislaus basketball players from years gone by are sought for an alumni benefit basketball game tentatively set for May 30.

In conjunction with the alumni football game, the basketball game will also benefit the schools' athletic programs.

For additional information, call Matt Rosetti (St. Stanislaus) 467-1191 or Dexter Bell (Bay High) 467-7216.

Washed ashore

An inflatable fuel tank, that was probably knocked off a boat during last week's storm, was found washed up on the beach in Bay St. Louis Wednesday. A city crew was ordered to compound the tank until the owner could be found. The Bay St. Louis Police Department and Fire Department responded. (Echo staff photo by Liz Haas)

Flowering dogwoods bring spring fever

By Dr. Milo Burnham

Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Dogwood trees across the state are blooming, and fortunately little damage was caused by the snow and low temperatures on the weekend of March 12-14.

This year, it was surprising to note that trees in the Jackson area were ahead of dogwood trees on the Coast. Strange how we think plants on the Coast will be ahead of those in other parts of the state.

In addition to the trees already growing in yards and woods around the state, nurseries and garden centers have dogwood trees in containers or wrapped in burlap that you can purchase and transplant into your yard.

Flowering dogwood (Cornus florida) could be the most popular, spring flowering, small tree. Redbud, crabapple, Japanese magnolia, plum and other small flowering trees are popular, but there is something special about dogwood.

Dogwood has special meaning for me because of the dogwood that once grew in my mom's yard in New Jersey. It was the first tree I climbed as a child.

The dogwoods' native range extends from the Gulf Coast to Maine. The white, spring blooms are not the only display put on by this tree. In the fall, the deep red leaves and bright red berries are equally attractive in the landscape. The ripe fruit are relished by birds, and in the fall migrating songbirds strip the trees bare of fruit.

Notice that dogwoods growing in the wild are understory plants in forests where much taller trees provide a medium level of shade and a thick layer of natural mulch. Try to duplicate these conditions when planting dogwood trees in your yard.

Regardless of how much you love dogwood, this is not the tree to plant in the middle of an open sunny lawn, in a heavy clay soil with poor internal drainage or where it is likely to be hit by the lawn mower or other yard care equipment.

Dogwood trees in full sun develop a compact growth form rather than the natural and attractive open branching structure. In full sun they typically develop leaf margin scorch and burn during hot, dry days of summer.

Trees planted in heavy, poorly drained soils seldom thrive and may die after a couple of years. Scraped bark and other injuries resulting from lawn mowers, weed whackers, disease infection and such trees typically die a slow death.

Dogwoods are very sensitive to herbicides. Trees planted in lawns are subject to injury where herbicides or herbicide-fertilizer combinations are used.

Don't transplant dogwood trees from the wild. Trees removed from their natural setting frequently are dug without obtaining the landowner's permission and at the wrong time of year. They frequently die because of severe root damage.

Others may transmit insects and diseases to healthy trees growing in your yard.

Nursery grown trees are most often of an improved variety, can be transplanted over a longer period of time and should be free of insects and diseases. Some of the improved varieties to look for are Cloud 9, Fragrant Cloud (slightly scented), Cherokee Chief (deep red flowers) and Bay Beauty (improved tolerance to heat and drought).

Dogwoods suffer from disease and insect problems. Discular anthracnose has been killing dogwood trees in the northeast, but this disease has not yet been identified in Mississippi. I've been told it is not likely to be found here because it is a "high altitude" disease, and we don't have mountains.

Spot anthracnose is a different disease that infects the flowers, leaves, young shoots and fruit. Regular sprays with fungicides containing chlorothalonil are recommended for control. Kousa dogwood is reported as resistant to the form of anthracnose that is killing northeastern dogwoods.

For the best results, plant dogwoods in grounds of several trees, in informal drifts along a border and in combination with other flowering understory trees and shrubs. Plant them where a natural mulch can be developed and where there won't be any digging or disturbance of the soil.

Sierra Club

"Horn Island — Mississippi's Jewel," a program of prize-winning photography, will be presented at the Marine Education Center, Point Cadet, Biloxi, at the west end of the Biloxi-Ocean Springs bridge Thursday, April 22, 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Donald Bradburn will present the program.

Dr. Bradburn was winner of the National Sierra Club's first Ansel Adams Award for Conservation Photography in 1971 on the basis of photographs of the Mississippi Barrier Islands. He has great affection for the barrier islands, particularly Horn Island. In the late 60's and 70's, he spent much time in the ultimately successful effort to have Horn and Petit Bois islands designated as wilderness under the Wilderness Act of 1964.

Many of his photographs have been published in Audubon, National Geographic and Sierra Club publications, American Birds, Nature Conservancy publications and elsewhere. His photographs have been exhibited in studios in New Orleans, at the New Orleans Nature Center, the Museum of Natural History and studios in Ocean Springs and Point Clear. Dr. Bradburn, a pathologist, is director of laboratories at Touro Infirmary in New Orleans.

The public is invited to this free presentation. The event is sponsored by the Gulf Coast Group of the Sierra Club. For more information, call 435-2623.

Mrs. Tompkins told how to prepare, clean and prune horticulture for a show.

Musical entertainment, informational booths, speakers, activities for children and special "Council Circles" patterned after the tradition of Native Americans will highlight an

The Council Circles are being held in recognition of the United Nation's designation of 1993 as the "Year of the World's Indigenous Peoples."

"In the Council, each person puts his or her 'good mind' on the issue at hand, and the people talk and listen to one another. As always, through the week of Earth Day 1993, the issue at hand is the Earth."

The Council Circles will be held starting at 5 p.m. Other activities beginning at 1 p.m. include speakers discussing topics such as population control and legislation affecting the environment that was passed in the recent Mississippi legislative session.

There will also be hand-on activities for children, information booths, an aquaculture aquarium exhibit, musical entertainment and a seashore activity led by rangers from Gulf Islands National Seashore starting at 2 p.m.

Earth Day is an educational event designed to increase awareness of ways to act to preserve the natural environment. Anyone interested in participating in the program, or who would like more information, may call 872-3457.

Give your mom
the gift of her life.
(And, yourself as well)

It may not be as colorful as roses, or as fashionable as a new dress, but a mammogram gift certificate could be the most beautiful Mother's Day gift of all. A mammogram can detect a problem in the breast as early as two years before it can be felt.

The American Cancer Society recommends that every woman begin mammography by the age of 40. Women with a family history of breast cancer, who have never had children or who had their first child after 30 may consider a mammogram before age 40. Women over 50 should be checked annually.

NorthShore Regional Medical Center's Outpatient Diagnostic Center is offering a gift certificate for a mammogram and interpretation by one of our board-certified radiologists for the special price of only $50. Our mammograms are performed by certified female technologists. We also offer breast self examination instruction.

To order your mom's mammogram gift certificate mail in the form below or call 646-5003. And, while you're at it, order one for yourself.

To guarantee delivery for Mother's Day, call or mail completed form in by Monday, May 3. Certificates are valid through Friday, July 30, 1993.

CEHS hires tennis pro

BY LIZ HAAS

Margaret Lovick-Spinks was recently hired by Coast Episcopal High School to work with the physical education program for next school year.

She won the women's 30-plus championship at the 22nd Annual Cecil Drake at Mirror Lake Tournament in Mobile, Ala., Sunday, defeating the nationally-ranked Lynn Rencher of Mobile 6-0, 6-2 in the finals.

Lovick-Spinks has been a certified tennis instructor for the past 10 years with the United States Tennis Registry. She is the mother of two, Eric, 4, and Jamie Ann, 1.

She is a United States Tennis Association Youth Tennis Initiative instructor, which means she is hired to go into schools and set up a curriculum for physical education teachers on how to teach tennis.

She is playing the Southern Circuit now to get into professional tournaments.

"I'm trying to build my strength so I can play in pro tournaments again," she said. At age 32, she is making her second come back, after having another child.

"I want to encourage other women not to give up, that they can do it," she said. "I thought my tennis career was over, but it's just starting again."

Her goal is to be in the top 10 in the nation within the next year.

She began her love for tennis at summer camp at the age of seven and received her first real coaching at age 12.

She began playing tournaments at age 14 and was in the top 10 in Louisiana by age 16.

When she was 19 she was number one in the state of Louisiana for two years.

She played for the University of South Alabama for three years and went on a pro tour in her early twenties for three years.

She was named 1982 most outstanding tennis professional by the Organization of Tennis Instructors.

She has played tournaments all over the United States and on the international level also.

She was the head tennis professional at Valencia, the oldest teenage social club in the U.S., in uptown New Orleans at its summer camp last year. She taught 78 children on a regular basis.

This summer she will be one of the head pros at the Audubon Park Tennis Center two days a week.

"I specialize in teaching children in basic stroke execution and basic fundamentals," she said.

She also teaches private lessons to all ages, but specializes in instructing children.

"My life is geared to mixing teaching with tournament playing," she said.

She is married to David Spinks, a former soccer pro in London, England, who is now the transportation manager and coordinator for Casino Magic.

The couple moved to Bay St. Louis two months ago.

Margaret Lovick-Spinks

'Libraries Change Lives'

A celebration of reading planned this week

'Libraries Change Lives' is the theme for this year's National Library Week, showing that the information provided by libraries across the nation helps people of all ages and backgrounds to live, learn and enrich their lives. Reading is and has always been the single most effective skill people can use to learn, gather information, keep abreast of what is going on in the world and communicate on a daily basis. The Hancock County Public Library System will join with libraries across the country to celebrate National Library Week April 18-24. Events to be celebrated include: —Every morning from 9:30 to 11 refreshments will be served at the three branches, except for Kiln and Waveland on Wednesday. Everyone is urged to visit the libraries, browse and read the morning papers. —Everyone visiting the library during the week will receive bookmarks and bookbags. —Staff members at the City-County Library will costume as book characters on Monday and Wednesday, April 19 and 21. At the City-County Library,

'Trees' will be the theme for the children's story time Wednesday, April 21 at 10:30 a.m. Children will hear A Tree is Nice and A Tree is a Plant read, along with other activities. 'Caterpillars and Butterflies' is the theme at the Waveland Library Friday, April 23 at 10:30 a.m. The Loopy Caterpillars and Butterflies are Beautiful are books to be featured, along with making caterpillars and receiving a coloring sheet. —The annual book sale will be held the entire week at the City-County Library. Persons are urged to come in and purchase some good books and magazines. Further information is available by calling the City-County Public Library at 467-5282, the Kiln Library at 255-1724, or the Waveland Library at 467-9240.
